

Advertisement serving in AWS

Internet advertising services need to serve targeted advertising and must do so under limited time. These are just two of multiple technical challenges they face.

Below diagram shows the two main parts of such a system: ad serving infrastructure and click-through collection featuring a data analysis cluster.

